The Happy Newlyweds!!

Joanne, Diane and Tracy are all smiles!

Oh, what a tangled web we weave. We are such liars, and what's so scary is that we're so good at it! The pool party at David and Jeanni Kadotani's home on June 19, 2010 was actually a surprise wedding celebration for Tracy and Randy Mano, who were married on Saturday, May 8th. Randy is so involved in everything at the church it was a real challenge to plan and execute this event, which turned out to be a real joy and a great celebration on a beautiful, blustery day...and it was definitely a surprise!

Upon arrival Tracy and Randy were presented with leis of woven ti leaves and purple orchids – gorgeous! And on behalf of the Westview family, Rev. Dan Hoffman presented the newlyweds with a gift in honor of their wedding and also to say “thank you” to Randy for all the time and work he's done for the church, the church building and surrounding area.

The rest of the afternoon was spent eating yummy skirt steak and hot dogs cooked up by Eric Wong, along with the Westview-famous potluck side dishes – oh, so good! In order to relieve our guilt from our overindulgence Tracy and her daughter, Ashli Dean, gave us a little workout with some line dancing. We hardly saw the children – they were in the pool having so much fun!

The lies? They were worth the surprise, joy, fun, fellowship, and celebration of the day!

A special thank-you to David and Jeanni Kadotani for hosting the party and opening up their home. Thank-you also to Diane Mio and Joanne Yahiro for coordinating the event. And last but not least, thanks to everyone else for helping out with the party and bringing your delicious food for the potluck!

Congratulations, Tracy and Randy!!

Tracy and Ashli teach line dancing to eager Church members and friends as the kids enjoy themselves in the pool. SUMMER FUN AT ITS BEST!!
